Stampede hoisted for this year

Meeting Tuesday night in a special session, the Raymond Stampede Committee voted to postpone Raymond's Stampede until Dominion Day in 1938.

This decision was made after much discussion pro and con on the matter, the general opinion being that as we had given up our Annual Day to Cardston because of her Golden Jubilee, and because of so many Stampedes already held that people would have had about all the Stampede they wanted by the 4th of August. Then too, there was some concern about the crops, because of the drought, and all in all those present felt that the best thing was to go without a Stampede this year.

It was unanimously decided however to make next year's show the biggest two day Stampede ever held in Southern Alberta, and all efforts now will be bent that way.

NEWS NOTES

Mr. Holden of Medicine Hat, was a business visitor in Raymond Monday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Redd, Mrs. I. B. Roberts, Mrs. O. H. Snow and Miss Lura Redd attended the Temple sessions at Cardston on Wednesday.

Read the notice from the town of Raymond. If you can donate some labor, we will be glad, if you can't and have tax or water arrears there is a chance to work them off. Will you co-operate in the Swimming Pool project.

THE W. I. HOLD

LAWN PARTY

The regular yearly lawn party of the W. I. was held on the lawn of Mrs. Elsie Stevenson June 8th, a nice group of Ladies being present.

The afternoon was spent in visiting and playing games. Prizes being awarded to Mrs. Harold Stevens, Mrs. Wm. Paris and Mrs. W. Barrett.

Mrs. Stevens favored them with a very enjoyable reading after which the yearly fair and Convention was discussed and plans being made to attend the meeting at Warner Aug. 6th.

A lovely basket lunch was served.

The door prize donated by Mrs. Ira McBride was won by Mrs. Thos. Allen.

Meeting adjourned until September, it being held at the home of Mrs. Jack Miller.

BASCOM BOYS GETTING

IN THE MONEY

Earl and Weldon Bascom are strutting their stuff in the rodeos across the line, and word from Pocatello, where a rodeo just finished this week, showed them both in the first and second places all three days in either saddle, bareback or steer riding, and in the finals Earl placed first in bareback and steer riding and Weldon was second. They are going to Nephi and then to Ogden for the next two rodeos this month.

Weldon is also riding the trick horses for Ted Elder, while Ted's leg is healing, and so far has had good luck in all of these tests of horsemanship and balance. We congratulate the boys on their fine showings and are glad they are holding up Raymond's reputation as the home of the Stampede.

Ray Rodeback Passes Away

Following a long illness, Ray Rodeback passed away Thursday night in the Lethbridge Hospital from what was diagnosed as cancer of the liver.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon in the 2nd Ward Chapel at two p.m. with Bishop Walker in charge.

NEWS NOTES

Any smart alec can take chances, but it is smarter to be safe.

Those who are poor in politeness are seldom rich in personal attainment.

Olive, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Nilsson was married in Spokane on July 1st, to Douglas Smith of Lethbridge. We extend congratulations to them.

This beautiful rain assures a harvest, and the average yield will likely be boosted to between 20 and 30 bushels per acre. No report has been made but the precipitation up to Friday noon is about one inch.

Mrs. Stella Hill, & Mrs. Nellie Mullet, left Thursday for their homes in Salt Lake City and St. George Utah, respectively. They have been here for the past six weeks visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. King. Lou took them as far as Great Falls Montana.

On Monday I saw: Dave Powelson's face grow two inches shorter while the shower was on; Constable Ellis looking for all and sundry with that questionable air about them; Bill Christensen et al trying to start a truck that had balked; the kids enjoying the rain like young ducks; Ed. Hawk riding herd on the mavericks; Geo. Brewerton wondering whether to buy or sell; Harding with a big wide smile, he was going to Coutts to get his wife, we would have laughed right out loud if our boss was coming home after being away so long; Harding said it sure did rain in Coutts too, the water was running down the streets in young rivers; Seems funny don't it, we prayed for the rain and Coutts got it. Well, life brings us a lot of questions we can't answer.

WHAT IS A BOY

A boy is the person who is going to carry on what you have started. He is to sit where you are sitting and attend to things which you think are so important, when you are gone. You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they will be carried out depends on him. Even if you make leagues and treaties, he will have to manage them. He will take your seat in Parliament, assume control of your cities, State and empires. He is going to move in and take over your churches, schools, universities, corporations, councils, and prisons. All your work is going to be judged and praised and condemned by him. The future and destiny of humanity are in his hands, so it might be well to pay a little more attention to him now.—Rotary Magazine.

Start on Swimming Pool Monday

After a series of meetings between Council, School Board, Stake Presidency, Board of Trade and the Rotary Swimming Pool Committee, details have been worked out and it is expected that ground will be broken for Raymond's new Swimming Pool next Monday morning the final decision as to location being in favor of the site between the Stake House and the High School building, where ample drainage, a guaranteed water supply, nearness to the centre of Town for those without cars, and the possibility of a program of beautification for the site, were all arguments in favor of the site finally decided on. To make this building program possible, the Stake Presidency has traded 75 feet of ground on the north of their line, and the School Board has relinquished the south ten feet of the street they purchased, making an 85 foot lot for the Pool and shrubs, trees, walks, etc. Plans are being redrafted now to provide for a pool as follows: 40x75 feet, 2 feet deep at the shallow end to 8 feet deep. A scum trough all the way around, a diving board 6 feet above the water, shower baths for swimmers before entering the pool, disinfecting bath for the feet, and provisions for a wading pool for small children, and benches for spectators should make the Pool a real attractive resort.

Organization was effected Wednesday night for the entire job by the choosing of the following Committees:

Executive Committee: L. L. Pack, Chairman, T. Geo. Wood and S. I. May.

Purchasing Committee: A. H. Zabriske and O. H. Snow.

Constructive Supervisor: Geo. E. Court.

Hauling: Board of Trade Carpenters Work and Forms: T. K. Roberts, Chairman; 5 men from each Elder's Quorum to assist.

Cement Pouring: C. R. Wing in charge, 25 men from the Athletic Association, 25 from the Hungarian Society, 25 from each Ward Mutual to work in shifts.

Digging trenches, spreading and tamping cinders and laying Tile: Boy Scouts.

Refreshment Committee: I. B. Roberts, Chairman assisted by Relief Societies, Y.L.M.I.A. of both wards, Primaries, Women's Institute, Ladies Aid, and all other Ladies Clubs of the Town.

Publicity Committee: Members of the Executive Committee.

July 28th was set as tentative date for pouring the cement when a civic holiday will be proclaimed, and every citizen of the Town will be expected to do his or her duty on that day as a citizen of the Town.

In order to enlighten townspeople on the plans and proceedings thus far, some one will speak in each of the wards for a few minutes each Sunday evening to let people know just what is going on and the plans for the completion of the project.

The willingness and enthusiasm of the Committee and those who have been asked to assist so far has been very gratifying, and if this same spirit can carry on into the work the morning of July 29th will see the pool completed. Come on citizens, Let's go.

News Notes

Dennis Lafferty who has spent the past couple of years in Florida and other States is visiting here at present. He was in Raymond last week.

Lonis Brandley purchased a new Nash Coach last week. A green finish, the new car is very attractive. He traded his Ford in on the deal.

It's a sad tale folks; but Raymond lost in Picture Butte Wednesday night by a score of 8-3. Two home runs started the merry-go-round that cost Raymond a chance for a play-off. Inasmuch as we were scored for our attempts at writing up the last Picture-Butte Raymond game, maybe we had better say no more. We might put our foot in it again.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Rayo Woolf, of Raymond and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Humphries of Picture Butte spent the week-end at Waterton National Park.

Highest temperature for the past week was 92 on Saturday, July 10th. Precipitation for the week was .12 inches. One tenth on Monday, and .02 on Tuesday.

It would make good reading to report the visits of your relatives and friends from other Provinces and States to the local paper. We are all interested.

"How long did it take you to learn to drive a car?"
"Oh, three or four."
"Months?"
"No, cars."

Arthur Garner Burned In Gas Explosion

Arthur Garner received painful and rather serious burns about the head and shoulders last Saturday afternoon while at work on the Municipal grader outfit. The machine had been stopped to fill the gasoline tank, and the heat of the day had expanded the gas in the tank to such an extent that when Art screwed the cap off, he was sprayed with gas, and when the gas hit the engine, which was hot from working, an explosion immediately followed, and flames enveloped the engine and also Art. There was a little puddle from the last storm, mostly mud, and Art dove into this and extinguished the flame, but not before he was painfully burned.

He is progressing as well as could be expected under the circumstances, and will soon be back to work. It is fortunate that the accident was no worse considering its nature.

PASSING PARADE

Geo. H. Brewerton

Life is confusing. Read Pitkin's "Life Begins at Forty" and thought I was in for sixty years of bliss. Later Dorothea Brande wrote "Wake up and Live". Have not read it but the thought is presented that I must wake up to enjoy those sixty years. Folks often suggest that I should wake up. Must read the Brande book. Wonder if Millie has a copy?

Heard a fellow express the hope that it would not rain. Said it would create too much work for him next fall. He was not serious though were you Albert.

Another chap was serious though in taking me to task for expressing the belief a month ago that he would have a bumper crop this fall. I said it was probably optimism that caused such an assertion. Further asked him if it was not good philosophy to look on the brighter side. When things are bad they can usually be worse. My friend does not like such an attitude. He says when you look on the pessimistic side you are never disappointed.

Advertising pays and the rates are now cheaper. For one page in black and white printing it costs only $8,500.00 in the Ladies Home Journal. The Recorder rates are even less than that.

"It was again whispered among the natives that Raymond would get a pool to dip the toes. But the old men were non-believers. They said the multitude was being misled. They cried that the germs that caused such talk be squelched. It did seem that when the old men were young they too, believed that Raymond would have a swimming pool. And they told of generations before and after them that thought such thoughts, and had such hopes and beliefs. And Raymond still had no pool; they had their Saturday ablutions in the tub. But the rumors persisted. Thus endeth this paragraph."

Wonder if Raymond would not be a better town if we had a (?) licensed hotel. Yes, morally. Are we not just fooling ourselves when we say there is no drinking here? Should we not profit by the experience of other towns? Financially I am certain we would be better off. Would have one more new building anyway. A financially able and responsible hotel man often told me he would build in Raymond the best small town hotel in the province, if he were granted a license.

"It could be decried with more or less surety that the hamlet, sometimes called Raymond, sometimes called home, lacked recreation spots for the youth of the village. Aye, it is recorded that the males of species were compelled to pitch their pennies on the main arteries of the community. Aye, the vendors did cry to have the highways in front of their marts cleared, but the play went on. The spot chosen was called "Safe." There was another word on the manuscript. Some said it was "Way" while others insist that the translation should read "Place".

Nearly every district has been favored with good soaking rains except our own. Clouds are still hanging around and our turn may still be coming. We hope so at any rate.

A. K. "Art" Lund, Raymond product, won the premier honors at the Calgary Stampede in the Canadian steer decorating contest, having an elapsed time of 40 and 2-5 seconds for four steers. He was also near the top of the finalists in the Canadian bareback championship, putting up some fine rides on the horses he drew. Clark was also in the money several days; but did not reach the finals.

Of all the sports where Dame Chance plays a big hand, the Stampede game seems to be the biggest. In most lines of contest last year's winner has more than even chance to win again this year. This however does not hold true in stampede events and last year's winners sometimes miss the prize altogether, and some practical unheard of rider has lady luck on his side and walks off with the dough. This likely explains in part why the boys keep on because they feel that their day is coming and they want to be in the ring when dame fortune beckons.

Congratulations to the Raymond boys who were in Calgary, risking their life and limbs in the Stampede contests. They keep our name on the map as a Stampede centre and their winning give the town and district good advertising.

SUCCESSFUL GENEALOGICAL CONVENTION

A very successful Genealogical Convention was held at Magrath Saturday and Sunday of last week, and the sessions on Sunday were very well attended, a great many people being present from the Raymond wards.

The representatives from Salt Lake City, Elder Rega Card and Mrs. Nellie T. Taylor, stressed the necessity and value of Research work, and especially the training of Juniors for this important work. The testimonies of these two speakers were greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Amongst those taking part on the programs from here were: Pres. T. Geo. Wood, Pres. Heber F. Allen, Elder H. S. Allen, Misses Mary Walker and Alice Snow, LaMonte Palmer, and perhaps others who participated in sessions we did not attend.

Geo. E. Court and Lloyd McPhee were Lethbridge visitors Thursday.

CALGARY POWER CREW HERE

The Calgary Power Co's construction crew arrived in town last week and have been busy overhauling the lines, repairing any troubles, replacing rotted poles, trying to find the radio interference, and generally giving the system a good checking up.

While here a bye-pass or auxiliary line will be built around the business section of the Town, so that in case of fire in the business part, service will not be interfered with, except in that section. This line will turn west at the corner of Lee Brewerton's, go west a block, then south three blocks, and come into the main line again at A. H. Zabriske's corner. The Council has been after this for a long while, and the citizens of the Town will appreciate this piece of work on the part of the Calgary Power Co.

WHAT PRAYER DOES FOR SOME

(By John Edwin Price)

Thousands of intelligent successful people gather in religious convention throughout the year. During the summer many religious camp meetings for young and old are in progress. Considerable time is spent at these gatherings in prayer.

What does prayer do for these thousands of people representing our intelligent, successful and morally best people? Surely these and the millions who pray in church, at home, in hospitals, legislative halls, and at work would not have practiced something down the centuries which does no good.

Examining what some have written on the subject we find:

Prayer enables some people to organize their wants. Frustrated and mal-adjusted lives are saved from mental confusion by concentrating on and straightening out their wants in mental appeal to one whom they believe to be Christ-like, and who is unlimited in resources and power.

Prayer serves these people as a safety valve through which pent-up emotions and desires find safe release.

Others say that prayer is broadening. By meditating upon God and his greatness they realize the pettiness of their own troubles and problems, see their own weaknesses more clearly and receive directions for straightening out themselves and their tangled affairs.

Still others think of prayer as being something like an electric switch that turns on current that makes motors run. Prayer is the means of contacting the soul of man with the soul of God creating a power renewing vibration of the emotional forces resulting from the connection of force and source, of motion and motive of the energized and the Energy.

Prayer is the sincere desire and expectancy for the universal best. The fact that one prays is acknowledgement of the realization of a need. And, when we wish for the true and good and noble, when we send a thought into the everywhere for the spiritual, moral, mental and physical energy, that we need to make our personality unit an effectual force in life, then whatever the attitude of the body, the soul is on its knees.

The soul, or essential self, is not an absolute existence but a relative one. God and soul are co-essential as mind and matter. As the human mind is the motive that energizes physical force into action, so God furnishes the energy that charges our spiritual forces with power, self-contained but not self sustained.

Thus in brief is outlined a small part of what prayer does for some, for the "half has never been told." As Tennyson so well said, "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."

The Russian fliers landed their plane in a field near San Diego on Wednesday. They flew 6,700 miles before landing, when a leaky gas line forced them down.

Calgary had a miniature cloud burst Friday afternoon when torrents of rain fell overflowing drains and streets and filling storm sewers. No damage was done but considerable inconvenience was caused to all sorts of traffic. The storm was not at all general.

Our Edmonton Letter

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Alta. — Reports have been circulated in the Capital that the two Social Credit experts from London expect their report to Major Douglas to be given within a very short time, and it has even been rumored they expect to be in a position to say a plan of Social Credit for Alberta can be operated within three months. Attention, however, is always directed to the proviso they stress, which indicates all these things can be expected "provided there is sufficient unity among the whole of the people of Alberta."

During the past week the big thing as far as northern Alberta and Edmonton in particular is concerned was the inauguration of the first air mail service from this city to the Yukon at Whitehorse and Dawson City. The big silver-gray tri-motored United Air Transport machine made the flight without incident or mishap and returned to Edmonton after a successful trip. Mail and passengers were picked up then for the United States and another big aeroplane, one of the MacKenzie Air Service's machines, took off Tuesday morning for Great Falls, Mont. where connection was made with other air mail routes going both east and west. The flight south was via Calgary and Lethbridge to Great Falls.

This event was one of the big historic events as far as the Canadian Northwest is concerned. It opened up for the first time to direct, quick communication the vast territory of the Yukon to the rest of the dominion and illustrates the progress in transportation made in recent years. It is one more of the links in air travel and communication that will make Edmonton one of the busy centres for aeroplane services on the continent in time.

Politically the capital has been quiet during the week and most cabinet ministers and the members of the Social Credit board have been away a good deal of the time. Premier Aberhart is not expected to return from Vancouver before next Monday, July 19. Hon. J. W. Huggill, Attorney-general, was in Calgary for the Stampede as also were Hon. E. C. Manning, Hon. Mr. Mullen and on Solon Low, the latter calling there on the way back from the south.

Hon. Lucien Maynard returned from Ottawa during the week where he was successful in securing further cooperation in connection with relief work projects from the dominion government.

The arrangement for relief work expenditures in the cities was being held back at the end of the week by the fact that Medicine Hat had not submitted their plans to the department and until that is done progress will be halted.

Monday the Edmonton Exhibition opened for the 59th, time and record crowds and programs are expected during the week by officials of the big affair. Tuesday there will be a monster parade, such as to thrill the hearts of the youth of the capital and the thousands of visitors expected to be on hand. Weather promises to be ideal from the point of view of sight seeing, but from the view point of the farmer's interests rain would be a welcome cooler to the heat of the exhibition's hot pathways and crowded show rooms.

The department of trade and industry has decided on installing a new plan for collecting the sales tax from merchants and a leaf is to be taken from the book of the Ohio state system, in which a leak proof method of receipting will be established. Merchants will have to give an official receipt for sales tax received from customers beginning at an early date.

Since last week there has been another change in the cabinet with Hon. E. C. Manning taking back his first post as minister of trade and industry, held during Mr. Manning's illness by Dr. W. W. Cross, Dr. Cross for the present has only the department of health but it is said likely that he will be given the department of relief again, now being administered by Hon. Lucien Maynard. Other changes are rumored as being pending but no definite news has been issued to date.

Edmonton, Alta. — Monday morning the new air mail route from Edmonton to Whitehorse, Yukon, was inaugurated when Pilot Grant McConachie lifted his big tri-motored aeroplane from the waters at the Cooking Lake seaplane base and turned it north-west on its history making flight.

Many officials of the dominion post office department and the various air companies were at the base to see the big machine start on its 1,200 mile journey with 280 pounds of mail as well as express and five passengers.

The vent was historic because it marks the first time the journey to Yukon was made in such a short time, the aeroplane covering the route of the old gold miners trail of 98 in a few hours when it used to be made in 18 months.

It was also an important event because the new route by air brings the Yukon for the first time into direct and quick connection with the rest of the dominion and for the first time makes it possible for residents of the Yukon Territory to enter and leave without having to pass through the United States customs in Alaska.

The story of the flight was broadcast from the plane itself and the experience of the fliers told over the air as it was met. The new route will be a link in a projected air mail route from the United States cities to Alaska via Lethbridge sometime in the near future. It may also be linked up with a round-the-world route via the Orient which will shorten the distance between Chicago and Shanghai by 4,300 miles. This route will thus prove a much shorter one than the present route followed by the China clippers across the Pacific ocean and will eventually be a factor in making of Edmonton one of the world's great air ports.

There are indications that another round-the-world flight will come by way of Edmonton this summer. Plans are being kept more or less secret but the flight will probably be made by Howard Hughes, famous American flier, and orders have been received at the Edmonton airport to have a supply of gasoline on hand ready for such a flight in which the fliers are expected to pause at this capital.

Dates and details have not yet been made public, but Captain James Bell, superintendent of the Edmonton airport, has been asked by the Shell Oil company if he will take charge of a consignment of gasoline in preparation for the flight.

Political news is dull at present, everything being in waiting for definite decision regarding whether there will or will not be a contest in the Edmonton riding for the vacant seat in the legislature. Premier Aberhart before leaving for a brief holiday at Vancouver urged that there be no contest in the interest of economy and there are still reports of a get-together arrangement between the Alberta Liberals and Conservatives.

If an acclamation is given to a fusionist candidate the government party will not contest the seat. Mr. Aberhart intimated it is unlikely in any case that a government candidate would run as the effect of defeat might be injurious to the prestige of the Social Credit party and the vacant seat is a Liberal one anyway.

The C.C.F. executive are to decide during the present week whether they will place a candidate in the field and the situation hangs pretty much on their decision. Should a C.C.F.

Country Life From Coast to Coast

Returns to Holstein for Breathing Spell—Some comments... on Ontario and Quebec—Preparations for the trip Westward.

(Special dispatch from Bob Sim)

The Home Farm, Holstein, Ontario.—Home again after three thousand miles of hitch hiking through the Maritime provinces. After pounding heel and toe over hot pavements and dusty country lanes, after waving frantic thumbs at passing motorists there comes a time for pausing, for thought, and for a moment of rest. Of course when I got home everyone was surprised to see me thinking I was in the east, everyone that is but mother who had been looking for me since a week ago Thursday, which is I suppose what all good mothers do. When you get back from a trip like that you want to sleep. You want three good meals a day. Perhaps you are not like me, but my first impulse was to pull off my shoes and walk out on the lawn in my bare feet. Well I have ten brief days for such luxuries before taking off for the mild Pacific, and our vast Canadian plains. But more of that at the end of the letter.

Ontario Revisited

Who was it said, "Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said this is my own my native land?" Whoever he was, he did not belong to Canada. For this land is so diverse and so varied that one can not put his finger on any one thing or place, and say with confidence: "This is Canada!"

A Maritime business man said to me, "We Bluesosers do not tear into things like you people in upper Canada. (Ontario is commonly known as upper Canada). We are satisfied with an ordinary income", he went on "we do not kill ourselves and I think on the whole we are happier."

What he said was largely true. In the east of Canada, there is less industry, business is not so highly developed, there are fewer very poor and fewer very rich. In Ontario you won't see a yoke of oxen in three days' journey; neither will you see homes so uniformly beautiful and well cared for as in Nova Scotia. Somehow the folks down east can get along with an ox cart and a horse and buggy, but they insist on fine trees, shrubs, and a painted house. Now it is all very well to be industrious and thrifty, but if industry and thrift become substitutes for generosity, righteousness, and a love of beauty, we should examine our standard of values. Those of us from the rest of Canada who have the privilege of visiting Quebec and the Maritimes should hesitate before we scoff at their methods of doing things, even if they are a bit different.

Then there is Western Canada. It would not be fair to my thumb or perhaps my feet to try to hitch-hike to Vancouver and back, so I have taken up the idea of driving again. I have been able to persuade three friends of mine to come with me. All of them are men. We are driving a car with a luggage carrier on the back for bedding, utensils, and food. We have no set itinerary but this is roughly the way we will go.

From Holstein to Toronto, then to Kingston and Ottawa where we will catch the Trans-Canada Highway which will take us through North Bay, Sudbury, and Sault Ste. Marie. At the Soo we will leave the Trans-Canadian crossing into the United States to return to the soil of Canada at Fort William. Our course will run due west through Kenora to Winnipeg. We have no plans on how to cross the prairies. We will be taking our time as we are allowing for at least seven weeks for the whole trip. Impulse and the advice we get on the way will be our guide, the Pacific Ocean our goal, and the whole country our field of observation.

Next week the four of us will be on our way and the next letter should come from somewhere in the north of Ontario. This letter concludes the first part of the Country Life from Coast to Coast series.

"WHAT DOES SCOUT- ING TEACH?"

The National Scout Jamboree of 25,000 boys who represent about a million who stayed at home have caused people to ask, "What does scouting teach?" Every boy who becomes a scout must take the oath: "On my honor I will do my best: To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the scout law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight." The Scout law states: "A Scout is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent."

Being taught in detail the meaning of these principles, scouts receive practical instruction in many things including handicraft, first aid, woodlore, camping, etc. Merit badges are awarded for proficiency in the various branches of knowledge.

More and more conscientious people are asking themselves, "Am I merely a user or am I a good conductor of Divine current?"

NEWS NOTES

Even philosophers, if they have never loved, have a lot to learn about life.

If you have discovered some short cut in canning vegetables and fruits, let us know and we will pass it on to your friends.

Tuesday was cloudy most of the day and a few drops of rain fell several times during the day. There was a very heavy dew Tuesday night, and all these small amounts of moisture are helping crops wonderfully.

Cecil Davis was buried at the quicksand at Irma, Alta., on Thursday. He had gone to the bottom of the well to work when the cave-in occurred. It was several hours before the body could be recovered.

CANNING HINT: If you haven't yet tried it, pour boiling water over your green peas, start the wringer on your washer and put the peas, blossom end first through the wringer, and the peas will roll out as fast as you can feed the wringer.

HIGHER PRICES FARM PRODUCTS DUE TO TOURISTS

Did you ever wonder why the farmer who lives near the big cities gets more for his poultry and dairy produce than those who live a great distance away?

Naturally! He lives close to his market. He can sell from door to door his eggs and chickens and he gets retail price for them, not wholesale price.

Farmers do not sell their products to farmers who are also trying to sell the same produce. The Alberta farmer does not sell eggs and vegetables to the Idaho farmer, unless the Idaho farmer comes to Alberta, unless the Idaho farmer becomes a tourist and visits Alberta.

Thousands of U. S. farmers become tourists every year but they prefer to motor to British Columbia because they can go there on hard surfaced roads. They won't come in large numbers to Alberta because they don't like driving over rough, dusty or muddy otholed highways.

Motor tourists boost the prices farmers get for their produce because tourists consume the surplus produce.

No tourist produces in Alta. anything to compete with the farmer.

Every tourist coming to Alberta helps to pay Alberta taxes by paying gasoline and sales taxes and by patronizing the government liquor stores. But the tourists won't come until this province has hard surfaced roads.

WEEKLY LETTER

The Control of Garden Insects.

Insects attacking garden crops are placed into two general groups, leaf eating and leaf sucking. The leaf eating insect is most easily controlled since the poison is placed on the foliage of the plants attacked. The sucking insects on the other hand are killed only when the poison spray contacts its respiratory system. This requires a thorough spraying of the underside of the foliage where the insects are generally found. Insects of both types are at present demanding the attention of the gardener.

At the Lethbridge Experimental Station, poison dusting has been found to be a much more efficient method than poisoning for controlling the leaf eating insects. The dust material is not as messy as water; it is much lighter and more easily carried from place to place and the dust has been found to stick to the foliage in high winds over relatively long periods. A satisfactory poison dust is made up of one part of Paris green and 12 parts of low grade flour. The dust is applied at any time of the day and may also be applied when a light wind is blowing. For dusting the smooth leaved plants such as cabbage, a quiet, dewy morning is preferred. Where there is not too large an area to cover, the double-spout, rotary duster has been found to be a very practical machine to use for it enables the operator to cover two rows at the same time. For small gardens, however, an ordinary tin can with a perforated bottom does very well. According to the experimental results at the Lethbridge Entomological Laboratory, and from our experience at the Lethbridge Experimental Station, Paris green has been found to be the most rapid killing insecticide and due to its strength, less is required than of the lead or lime arsenates. The Paris green and flour may be mixed beforehand as the poison does not lose its strength in this combination. It must be pointed out, however, that it is necessary to thoroughly mix the Paris green and flour to insure a uniform distribution of the poison. A good mix possesses a uniform milky green colour.

The aphids or plant lice are the most common of the sucking insects. Their activities generally cause the leaves to curl or fold backward and very often a red or purple colour develops in the plant tissues. These insects are best controlled by spraying the underside of the leaves with a pressure spray or such as the knapsack or barrel type for large acreages or a household sprayer for small gardens. A spray mixture consisting of 2 gallons of kerosene, 1 gallon of water and half a pound of soap, and then diluted with 17 gallons of warm water, is good. At this Station, 2 teaspoonfuls of Blackleaf 40, 1 ounce of laundry soap, and 1 gallon of water, is generally employed.

In certain instances leaf eating and sucking insects are found on the same plants at the same time. A combination spray of a contact and stomach poison is necessary. The ingredients of this spray are made up of 2 teaspoonfuls of Blackleaf 40, 1 tablespoon of Paris green, in 1 gallon of soapy water. This material is sprayed on the underside of the leaves with a pressure sprayer.

It is sometimes not advisable to use Paris green on certain garden crops, particularly cauliflower. Pyrethrum powder or a product with a Derris of about 5 per cent Rotenone base may be used effectively and still leave the product fit for human consumption. Pyrethrum or Derris is generally used at the rate of 2 ounces per gallon of soapy water. When Pyrethrum is used an alkaline soap may be employed. For Derris, however, linseed oil soap (alkali free) is best.
